DESPERATE CONSPIRACY TO BREAK JAIL DISCOVERED

Prisoners Plan To Murder Guards and Then Escape.

PLOT DISCOVERED MONDAY

Dirks and Bludgeons Found In Arthur Hanye's Cell.

TOM DELK THE RINGLEADER

Would Have Killed Jailer McCullough in Order To Succeed.

SCHEME THWARTED BY JAILER EUBANKS

Hanye and Tom Delk Have Since Been in Irons—Prisoners Are Now Closely Guarded—The Plot
Was Very Nearly a Success.

The prisoners of Fulton county jail made desperate plans to bolt for freedom last Monday night.

But for the timely discovery made by Jailer Eubanks, Assistant Jailer Pat Mc-Cullough and a night guard would doubtless have murdered and the jail delivered of all its prisoners.

The conspiracy, daring and desperate, had been well planned in its every detail.
Cunningly the scheme had been arranged and complete would have been its execution.

Assistant Jailer Eubanks was to be de-coyed into the corridor. Tom Delk, who had made a key to his cell door, would be in hiding in the bathroom. When McCullough entered the corridor, Delk was to spring upon him from behind.

Hanye's cell door was false locked by a trustee who was one of the conspirators, and when the time for action came, the murder of Spinks was to rush out and aid Delk.

The night guard at the door would have been silenced with a knife thrust and the keys would then have been in the possession of the prisoners. Every door would then have been opened, and before an alarm could have been given, the entire number would have been upon the streets and probably beyond recapture.

The escape was planned without regard to cost. Human life was not to be an obstacle. With a wild rush the men were to break through the outer door and silence those who might give an alarm.

But while the prisoners were awaiting an opportune time for the bolt, Jailer Eubanks was quietly but persistently working to frustrate their plans. Intuitively, it might be said, the jailer became aware that something was wrong. The conduct of the men was suspicious, and while he worked he watched every detail that came under his vision.

He watched the criminals carefully and nothing escaped his notice. He soon singled out Tom Delk as the leader, and to this man he paid strict attention. Delk was conspicuous among the prisoners. He was constantly in consultation with others, and his deliberate manner and unusual actions aroused the suspicion that finally led to the discovery in time to prevent the execution of the scheme.

At 7 o'clock Monday night Jailer Eubanks quietly opened the corridor door and went to Hanye's cell. The door appeared to be locked securely, but such was not the case.
The jailer threw his weight against the door and it flew open.

Hanye was immediately removed to another cell and a heavy iron chain, secured by bolted to a ring in the center of the stone floor, was placed about the boy's ankles.

Tom Delk was taken out and placed in Irons. Delk was then confined in another cell where there was no possibility of an escape.

The result of the examination shows that Delk was the instigator of the plot. Hanye is said to have been used as the scapegoat. The prisoners say he was soon to die, and if the scheme did not succeed, they would throw the responsibility upon him. Thus it was that the instruments of death were placed in the condemned man's cell.

A close watch has been placed on all the prisoners and they are being guarded with the greatest precaution.

Bold Scheme To Escape.
The bold scheme to break jailer Pat Mc-Cullough and make a dash to liberty was concocted last Sunday.

All day the prisoners seemed to be in earnest conversation with each other, and small knots of men would congregate at the rear end of the broad corridor and discuss something in quiet and subdued voices.

Delk was the center of attraction and about him a motley crowd gathered and

TOM DELK,
Who Was the Ringleader in the Attempt to Break Jail.

Arthur Hanye Confesses to the Murder of the Italian.

SAYS HE WAS JUSTIFIABLE

Writes a Letter to The Constitution
About the Crime.

DENIES HE KILLED SPINKS

"God Knows I Didn't Intend To Murder Him," He Says.

CLAIMS HE IS READY TO MEET DEATH

Concludes His Letter with a Warning to Those Who Look Upon the Cup
When It Is Red—Advises
All Young Men To Be More Conservative.

With trembling hand and nervous fingers, Arthur Hanye has written a letter for publication, confessing that he killed the Italian in self-defense and denying that he killed Will Spinks.

The letter was written yesterday morning by Hanye as he sat in his cell and yesterday afternoon he requested that it be published in "The Constitution."
"I want the truth to be known," said Hanye. "I haven't anything to be backward. I want the people to know why I killed the Italian. I also want them to know that I did not murder Spinks, my best friend."

Hanye says in his letter that the Italian was killed because he drew an ax and threatened to kill Spinks. He says his ax in killing the Italian was to save the life of his friend.

Several pages of the letter are devoted to a review of the Spinks tragedy. The conversation between the two in the saloon and the words of explanation and the fight are told by the murderer, and he concludes by warning those who drink and associate with evil companions to beware.

This was just what was wanted by the prisoners. When they laid their plans for a break, they first considered how they could get the jailer on the inside of the corridor. The rules of the jail prohibit any of the night guards from going within the rock portion of the jail after the prisoners are locked up at night.

But the men were equal to the emergency, and they decided to create a great disturbance, and compel the jailer to reach the inner door and come within reach.
As long as the jailer remained on the outside they could easily repeat the programme prove futile and never could be put into execution.

The prisoners saw their decoy would work, and they saw that if the jailer would enter the corridor to quiet the disturbance, they could easily repeat the programme the next night.

All day Monday the men discussed the scheme to kill McCullough that night and make a mad dash through the door.

Monday afternoon the scheme was complete. The men were all ready, and all of its inmates but for Captain Eubanks, whose detective skill frustrated the plot.

Hanye's Cell False Locked.
The cells are locked by a trustee named Berry. It is his duty to go down the corridor after the prisoners are in the cells and push the link into the door. When the link is in the door, a guard at the outer door pulls a long rod through all the links and the doors are securely locked in "Y's manner."

When Berry, who is said to have been one of the original plotters, reached Hanye's cell he did not push the link entirely through, but only a short distance. After passing all other cells, the long rod was pulled into position and all the cells, save Hanye's, were locked.

Hanye tied his cell door securely with wire, so that when the guard came down the corridor a few minutes later, shaking the doors to see if they were locked, and tugged at the murderer's cell, he found it secure.
To all appearances the door was fastened as were the others.

Weapons in Hanye's Cell.
Hidden in Hanye's cell were two knives, a saw, four pieces of steel and a heavy iron bar.

One blow from the bar would have brained the jailer and a thrust of the keen-bladed knife would have silenced the assistant who stood at the door and would have rushed in to aid his comrade.

Should the keys have been placed out of reach, the saws and files would easily and quickly have cut the strongest bars, and then all would have been liberated. It would have been the work of but a moment to commit a double murder and break through the bars to the street.

One knife found in Hanye's cell was a long-bladed weapon with keen edge, while the other knife was smaller, like a bar iron was very heavy and could have been used as an excellent instrument in performing the ghastly task.

The smaller pieces of iron and steel were stripped from the iron bunk, but the jailers have not the slightest idea as to the manner in which the knives and iron bar were secured. But they were found hidden in the cell—murderous weapons that would have been used had it become necessary.

Tom Delk Had a Key.
Though the cell of Tom Delk was locked and the big bolt clanked heavily into position, the desperate man smiled sarcastically at the jailer who shook his door to try the lock.

In the man's cell was a key, cut and

GARDINER BEATS THE RECORD.

Wheel Moves the Mile in 2:01 Flat in Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., August 14.—The races of the national League of American Wheelmen meet today in the finish, and the time made, bordered on the sensational.
One of the most important world's records, the one-mile open, was broken.
The one-mile national championship was decided, so far as the present progress of the circuit is concerned. It was won by Tom Cooper.

Arthur Gardiner did the record-breaking in the mile open, paced by John S. Johnson and J. W. Parsons, the Australian champion, with thirteen starters in the race.
Gardiner rode the mile in 2:01, beating the record of 2:04, established by Bald, just a week ago at Buffalo. He won by a pneumatic sprint in the stretch, which he entered ten lengths behind Sanger, who led the field. Chairman Gideon stated afterwards that it was the most rapid burst of speed that he had ever seen or heard of.
Cooper was not entered in this race.

In the mile national championship, Cooper, who won, had the closest call of the year. He beat Owen Kimble across the tape only half the diameter of his front wheel. Bald was third, a length behind Kimble, the others being bunched behind.

The first serious accident of the meet occurred in the five-mile state championship. J. C. Mitchell's chain broke and he fell. Karl Thome, the Kentucky one-mile champion, fell over him, and three other riders landed on Mitchell before he could rise. The latter's collar bone was fractured in two places.

At a meeting of the membership committee of the League of American Wheelmen, this morning, Dr. T. W. Tinsall, of New York, was expelled on the charge of "conduct unbecoming a member of the League of American Wheelmen." Tinsall was sent to the New York legislature to secure the passage of a bill requiring railroads to carry bicycles as baggage, but instead of supporting the bill he offered an amendment favorable to railroads, for which it is alleged he received considerable compensation. The bill without the amendment, however, was passed.

NEGROES TURN HIGHWAYMEN.

Gang Attack Section Hands and Rob and Shoot at Them.

Waycross, Ga., August 14.—(Special.)—A crowd of section hands was held up and robbed this evening at their homes between Waycross and Blackshear by two armed negro tramps.

The section men had just finished cooking their supper when a party of three desperadoes arrived and asked for a drink of water, which was given them.

The tramps then demanded food with threats against the section men should they be denied. The section men said they had no food, and spare, as they would require all they had while at work tomorrow. The tramps drew their pistols on the section men, who fled as a fusillade of bullets was sent after them. When the tramps had frightened the men off, they took all the provisions they found in the house, and then they left the place.

The Baptist church at Wareboro was broken into last night by vandals. The furniture was broken and the pulpit thrown.

EDITOR STEEL'S TRIAL BEGINS.

Sessions of the Investigating Committee Are Secret.

Nashville, Tenn., August 14.—(Special.)—
The trial of Rev. J. H. Steel, the deposed editor of The Epworth Era, began this morning with Bishop Wilson, Hendrix and Greene presiding.

The committee decided that the trial should be in secret and an injunction of secrecy was laid upon the present.
Mr. E. R. Richardson, Mr. James M.
Leech and Dr. Barbee were examined. The first two witnesses were examined as to remarks made by Dr. Steel in the trial of the West End Methodist church after his election as editor of The Era. He was announcing his election by the general conference of the church, and he said in substance that it was a question of how tight they drew the reins whether he would run The Era untrammelled, or "kick out of the traces." In other words, he would run The Era untrammelled. The trial may be concluded tomorrow.

TENNESSEE'S TREASURY EMPTY.

Governor Turney Calls an Extra Session of the Legislature.

Nashville, Tenn., August 14.—(Special.)— Governor Turney called an extra session of the legislature for September 7th to amend the revenue and assessment laws, and to take action on the bill to be known as the "tax bill."

The surplus of half a million in the treasury in '94 has been used up. The legislature reduced the state tax 32.3 per cent and also reduced privileges.
Increases in the assessed valuation of all property was expected, but there was a decrease instead with the result that the revenue was reduced $55,000 from the preceding year. The expenditures exceed the income, and the balance now in the treasury belongs to special funds. Unless the legislature had been called there would have been a default in January interest and the state would have been in a very bad way.

"My God, is there any person believing that I would do that?" God above knows there is no one in this world more sorry for this trouble than myself. If it had been a stranger or some one else besides my best friend, I could bear it better.
God above only knows how deeply I regret it.

"It was the opening day at that saloon; free drinks were being handed over the bar. If I had not been drinking, I would not have stopped in that saloon that day and would have gone home to dinner, where I had started. If I had not been drinking, he would not have got mad with me for calling him a liar, for he knew I was always talking with each other as we pleased and would have let me explain to him that I was mad, why I apologized to him, but he still seemed to be mad. I turned and walked a few steps toward the door, intending to go home, but turned around and went back to him again, still trying to explain to him that I was not mad and trying to get him in a good humor."

"The first thing I knew he struck me on the side of the head and started toward me. I jumped back, pulled my knife out, opened it, but before I had time to use it, Will caught me by the wrist, and so help me God, I struck Will with that knife I do not remember it."

Didn't Know He Was Hurt.
"I did not know that Will was hurt until they told me about it after they had taken me over to the station house. If I had known that Will was hurt I would have tried to get away. When they pulled Will and I was not yet completed.

DAUNTLESS HAS GONE

One Hundred Armed Men Were Taken

SWIFTEST ON THE COAST
Not a Boat in the Spanish Navy So Fast by Three Knots.

TUG SAID TO BE SOLD TO THE JANTA United States Marshal Too Late To Act—Collector Lamb Notices
the Department.

Brunswick, Ga., August 14.—(Special.)— Since the departure of the tug Dauntless from the Satilla river Wednesday night bearing a Cuban expedition, everybody has been on the qui vive for the development of the tug's cruise of what promises to be a famous filibuster.

Much speculation is rife as to what disposition is really intended being made of the cargo of the Dauntless.
As far as she is concerned there is a prevalent belief that she is engaged at present in transporting men and arms from the land to another vessel on the immediate coast, possibly the Laura, whose whereabouts is puzzling many just at this time. This is very plausible and coupled with a statement made by one of the boat owners today that the Dauntless would be back in port Monday it seems very probable. Yet, as she is undoubtedly one of the swiftest steam vessels in southern waters, she would be a natural choice for a blockade runner on the Cuban coast, and it may be possible the intention is to use her to deal directly into insurgent hands.

A rumor gained circulation today from the statement made by Colonel John E. du-Rignion, managing owner, that none of the owners of the Dauntless had anything to do with her engagement in filibustering, but that she had been bought out and out by the Cuban Junta, and henceforth would be used exclusively in delivering munitions of war to the insurgents.

The following telegram relating to the movements of the Dauntless was sent to the treasury department this afternoon: Brunswick, Ga., August 14, 1896.—To Hon. S. W. Lake, Acting Secretary, Washington, D. C.: The plans for the filibustering trip of the tug Dauntless were so well planned that with the greatest surveillance exercised she could not be intercepted as a filibuster. The tug apparently under ordinary circumstances, left her wharf at 5:45 o'clock on the night of the 12th, ostensibly for Miami, Fla., to secure a tow. However, at 2:45 o'clock a. m., of the 13th, with lights extinguished, she took on a body of men from Jacksonville, suggested to number 100, at Woodbine, at the junction of the Florida Central and Peninsular railroads with the Satilla river, in the customs district of St. Mary's, Ga., leaving out at St. Andrews bay about midnight.

The tug was seen on the Satilla river about 10 o'clock this morning. This information came to the attention of the customs office. THOMAS W. LAMB, Collector of Customs.

HUNDRED CUBANS AT WAYCROSS.

Armed and Equipped the Men Went Aboard the Dauntless.

Waycross, Ga., August 14.—(Special.)— Special cars bearing over 100 Cuban ex-peditors arrived Wednesday night over the Westcott line of the Plant system from Tampa, and left here for Yule, on the Florida Central and Peninsular railway, Callahan about 10 o'clock, reaching the Satilla river bridge near Yule shortly after midnight.

The Cubans attracted no special attention in this city, as they were seen only by the railroad employees, and they were supposed to be on their way to the Satilla colony of farmers or something of the kind.

The Cubans had arms and ammunition on the train, though nothing unusual was noticed at the time. The Cubans and their munitions of war were put on board the Dauntless early yesterday morning at the Florida Central and Peninsular bridge on the Satilla river, and before daylight the swift little tug steamed off down the river for the sea. These facts were obtained from railroad employees, and strengthen the report sent out from Brunswick last night concerning the movement of the Dauntless.

MARSHAL HARRELL TOO LATE.

Dauntless Had Gone When He Reached Brunswick.

Savannah, Ga., August 14.—(Special.)— Marshal J. D. Harrell came today from Brunswick, where he went to look after the expedition of the alleged filibustering tug Dauntless.

Marshal Harrell was under instructions from the attorney general, but reached Brunswick too late to catch the Dauntless, which left the afternoon before. Marshal Harrell says he is morally certain that the tug has gone on a filibustering expedition, though there is no definite legal evidence bearing on the matter. He saw J. E. du-Bignon, the managing owner of the tug, who denied most positively knowing anything about its movements.

Marshal Harrell was told the Dauntless has an average record of fourteen and a half knots per hour, which is two and a half knots faster, it is said, than any tug in the Spanish navy.

SPAIN IS SEEKING FIGHT.

Duke of Tetuan Knows Where To Look for Trouble.

London, August 14.—The Standard will tomorrow publish a dispatch from Madrid giving further details regarding the memorandum recently prepared by the duke of Tetuan, minister of foreign affairs, anent the condition of affairs in Cuba and the relations of Spain with the American republics, especially the United States, in connection with Cuba.

The dispatch says that the duke of Tetuan, informed him of his design of presenting the note to the powers. Mr. Taylor straightway warned the duke that the document was likely to seriously affect the relations between Spain and the United States, following so closely upon President Cleveland's neutrality proclamation and implying a desire to produce European interference in the diplomacy of the new world.
Mr. Taylor was so realistic that he elected to place the note not at the time he sent it and that if the matter was again mooted Spain would take care that

WOUNDS MADE BLEED AGAIN.
Mosely Wing of Republicans Opens War on an Old Enemy.
Montgomery, Ala., August 14.—(Special.)—A call has been issued by Dr. R. A. Mosely, of Birmingham, for the holding of primaries to select delegates to a state convention of his wing of the republican party to be held in Montgomery September 6th, for the purpose of nominating an electoral college.
The call comes as a great surprise and is taken to mean perhaps an irreparable breach in the republican ranks in this state.
The fight between Mosely and William Vaughan, of Birmingham, for the chairmanship of the state executive committee, last May was exceedingly bitter. Mosely representing the anti-McKinley sentiment and Vaughan the McKinley strength. Separate state conventions were held by the factions and the national convention sustained Vaughan's convention and election. It was thought the wounds had been healed until the announcement today of the proposed September convention.
Dr. Mosely controls absolutely the negro vote in Alabama, which constitutes about 87 per cent of the republican party. The democrats are, of course, delighted at Dr. Mosely's action.

Campbell court has nine candidates for treasurer. Judge R. C. Beavers is a candidate for ordinary and has no opposition. He has been ordinary for five years and is now eighty-two years old and will be elected again. Though Campbell has many candidates, there is no serious contest for the legislature. MORGAN SPEAKS OUT Alabama's Patriotic Populist Points the Proper Way.

SAYS HE IS FOR MR. BRYAN

Believes That There Should Be a Consolidation of All Free Coinage Votes.

Montgomery, Ala., August 14.—(Special.)—Hon. Philander Morgan, of St. Clair, the pastor of the people's party of Alabama and one of the most patriotic and most influential of that party's leaders in this state, has written a many, philippic against the cotton crop which he gives to a friend in this city, in which he gives his reasons why populists should support Sewall instead of Watson for the vice presidency. Major Morgan is one of the original populists of the south and has always been a "middle of the road" man, opposing the fusion of his party with the republicans in the state elections, because the principles of the two would not mix. He is a brother of Senator John T. Morgan and is one of the most highly respected men in the state. His letter is as follows:

Essexville, Ala., August 10, 1896.—Col. E. B. Russell, Montgomery, Ala.:—Dear Sir: Replying to your favor of August 6th, I would say:

1. That the defeat of Bryan is a foregone conclusion so long as the pro-sewer faction of the cotton crop is in the hands of the cotton crop. It is not only a question of the cotton crop, but a question of the silver coinage. The silver coinage is a question of the cotton crop. The silver coinage is a question of the cotton crop. The silver coinage is a question of the cotton crop.

2. That his political following is fourfold greater than that of Mr. Watson. That Mr. Watson is a man of no political influence, altogether necessary to Mr. Bryan's success. We have at best but little margin on which to speculate. It will be either McKinley, with all of the horrors of a still more depleted money supply, with the cotton crop, or it will be Bryan. In view of these things it becomes clear that the class of populists who are in the hands of the cotton crop, rather than that which is in the hands of the cotton crop, who are unwilling to see the name of the cotton crop, to come to the aid of a party which is in the hands of the cotton crop, to come to the aid of a party which is in the hands of the cotton crop.

PHILANDER MORGAN.

VOTED FOR THE WEAKEST MAN.

Populists and Republicans United To Beat Choice of the Democrats.

LaFayette, Ala., August 14.—(Special.)—The democrats in this county Wednesday the following parties were nominated:

For senator, T. F. McFarland, defeating Gordon Lee, for representative, W. C. Copeland, defeating B. F. Thuman; for ordinary, J. L. Rowland; clerk, R. N. Dickerson; for sheriff, H. A. Sims; tax collector, H. S. Baker, and for tax collector, J. C. Hall.

The vote was one of the largest ever recorded in the county. The democrats, populists and republicans voted almost solidly, and changed the result in many cases. Supporting in nearly every case the man that they thought weakest with democrats.

There were nearly forty candidates and there was a full vote.

DEADLOCK IN HOSTILITIES.

Negotiations for a Settlement of the Southern Rate War Is On.

Baltimore, August 14.—It is understood that negotiations for a settlement of the southern rate war have made considerable progress. This is not admitted officially, but interest outside of the Seaboard line and the Southern railway are striving to bring about an understanding which will prevent the renewal of hostilities after the hearing before Judge Simmons tomorrow.

It is reasonably certain that if an agreement is not reached by the end of the week, it will find ways and means of cutting into the revenue of the Southern railway, and this in turn will be felt by other roads. The Pennsylvania is understood to have taken a hand in the effort to get a settlement, and its influence with both lines is necessarily considerable. The matter is a deadlock in hostilities, the breaking of which may be full of significance and is awaited with much concern.

WOUNDS MADE BLEED AGAIN.

Mosely Wing of Republicans Opens War on an Old Enemy.

Montgomery, Ala., August 14.—(Special.)—A call has been issued by Dr. R. A. Mosely, of Birmingham, for the holding of primaries to select delegates to a state convention of his wing of the republican party to be held in Montgomery September 6th, for the purpose of nominating an electoral college.
The call comes as a great surprise and is taken to mean perhaps an irreparable breach in the republican ranks in this state.
The fight between Mosely and William Vaughan, of Birmingham, for the chairmanship of the state executive committee, last May was exceedingly bitter. Mosely representing the anti-McKinley sentiment and Vaughan the McKinley strength. Separate state conventions were held by the factions and the national convention sustained Vaughan's convention and election. It was thought the wounds had been healed until the announcement today of the proposed September convention.
Dr. Mosely controls absolutely the negro vote in Alabama, which constitutes about 87 per cent of the republican party. The democrats are, of course, delighted at Dr. Mosely's action.

In the first place, the initial cost of obtaining a seat in the house of commons is always great. IN THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Yesterday afternoon the Woman's Press Club of Georgia and the Georgia Literary and Library Association met at the state capitol in the office of Miss Ellen Dorch, the secretary of the Woman's Press Club.

The meeting was a very important one, bringing together the members of two prominent organizations to consider the publication of an industrial magazine, the object of which will be to present to the public an account of the progress of the state.

Various suggestions were made by the many bright and representative literary women present, and it was decided to proceed at once toward raising a fund of $10,000 to cover the expenses of the magazine.

An entertainment will be given the 1st of October at the Grand, when a play written and locally adapted by Mrs. Mary E. Bryan will be produced for the first time, and by capable amateur talent.

The play has been met with criticism by the best playwrights and critics and is entitled "The American Girl." It abounds in striking situations, is not lacking in dramatic force and has enough of sentiment to make it a charming story and decidedly up to date.

Besides the date there will be a number of recitations and character sketches by distinguished Georgia men and women, members of the press club and the Southern Literary and Library Association.

There will be music by the best selections and the women of the two organizations are assured a brilliant success in any entertainment given under their auspices.

A committee composed of Mrs. Atkinson, Miss Sheehan, Miss L. O. Thomas and Miss Dorch were appointed to arrange the musical part of the programme, while Mrs. A. J. Smith and Mrs. W. L. Barnes were appointed to look after the arrangements for the drama.

The Southern Literary and Library Association was represented by Mrs. T. H. Hodges, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Mary E. Bryan, Miss Hodges. Among the many others present were Miss Dorch, Miss Huntley, Miss Thomas, Mrs. A. J. Smith, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Wylie.

MR. BEATIE COMES DOWN.

He Withdraws from the Third Ward Contest—Captain Ed Cox Will Not Be a Candidate.

The candidates for the different city offices are hustling among the voters and securing promises of votes in the coming primary. The campaign is lively, but the contest so far has been in the nature of a friendly one.

No new candidates announced yesterday. The field is already fairly well occupied, however.

Mr. D. A. Beatie, of the third ward, who failed of nomination on the Neal ticket, has withdrawn from the contest for council. He stated yesterday that owing to the changed conditions since the issuance of the call for the primary he had decided to withdraw from the race.

Mr. Beatie's withdrawal leaves three candidates in the field for the third ward council seat. Mr. B. S. Lumpkin, of the citizens' ticket; Mr. George Beauchamp, of the Neal ticket; and Mr. J. A. LeSueur, independent, are the three candidates. All are working hard for the place, and the contest will probably be one of the warmest of the primary.

Captain Ed Cox says that he will not be in the race for commissioner of public works, as rumored Thursday. His friends were using his name in connection with the place, but he said yesterday that he would not be a candidate, as he is engaged in farming and does not desire to enter politics.

Interest in the city primary now centers on the prospective action of the city executive committee and sub-committee appointed to select the managers and clerks to conduct the primary. The sub-committee will meet next Tuesday morning and name the men who will have charge of the election.

Gregory, who attended the Georgia Normal and Industrial college at Milledgeville this year, was the guest of Mrs. M. L. Rockmore last week.

CROWD WITH HORROR.

The Great Presbyterian, Rev. Charles L. Thompson, D. D., of New York.

What Paine's Celery Compound Has Done for the Eloquent Preacher.

From no one class of men has Paine's celery compound received more unstinted praise for its wonderful powers of making the sick to be well again than from ministers of the gospel in every denomination.

Rev. Father Ouellet, Rev. Dr. Meek, the editor of the Central Methodist, Rev. Dr. Baird, Rev. W. J. White, D.D., of the Georgia Baptist, are among the hosts of clergymen who have testified by their own experience to the value of Paine's celery compound.

Rev. Charles L. Thompson, D.D., pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church in New York city, is a man greatly to be honored. Before going to the city of New York he served in prominent pulpits in Cincinnati, Chicago, Pittsburg and Kansas.

On the 10th of June, 1896, Dr. Thompson said: "I think to the use of Paine's celery compound is due the fact that I have been able to carry my duties through the exhausting springtime with unusual ease and comfort."

To the multitude who suffer from the enervating effects of the warm weather in this climate, this plain, straightforward statement from so eminent and fearless a clergyman should be heeded.

Paine's celery compound has put an end to an enormous amount of sickness and disease. It began at the very outset of its splendid career to cure men and women of kidney troubles, liver complaint and nervous prostration, and since that time it has cured all of these and blood disorders which not slow in spreading its reputation through every state in the country.

Physicians everywhere greeted the great remedy with the most enthusiastic approval, and the most enlightened, most skillful means the world has ever known for invigorating the "run-down" system.

Thousands of wholly distressed men and women saw their neighbors and townspeople made well by Paine's celery compound.

This epoch-making discovery in medicine due to the patience, thoroughness and zeal of the great Dartmouth college scientist, stands today unquestioned as the greatest brain and nerve strengthener and restorer the world possesses.

SIMMONS IS GONE.

An Old Man Thought To Have Been Murdered.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE

Family Search the Town and Think That the Old Man Has Been Killed.

S. P. Simmons, sixty years of age, is thought to have been murdered.

Mr. Simmons left his home near Easton, about three miles from the city, early Wednesday morning. He stated he was going to visit his sister, Mrs. Cones, in Atlanta, but he has never arrived at his destination.

He has been seen only once since he left his home. Mr. W. H. Cones, who is employed as headmaster's store, on Whitehall, and is a nephew of the missing man, saw him Thursday morning on Whitehall street, near the corner of Mitchell. He was on the opposite side of the street walking north. Nothing has been seen or heard of him since.

Mr. William Cones, the brother-in-law of Simmons, to whose house he had started when he left home, was seen last night, and is very apprehensive about the mysterious disappearance. He is rather inclined to think the old gentleman has been foully dealt with.

It is not known whether Simmons had any money or possessions on him, but the supposition is that he had. He took no baggage with him, and his people do not think it was his intention to leave town. The police were notified of the strange disappearance yesterday afternoon. A full description of the man was left at the station house and the police will find him if he is in Atlanta. The city was thoroughly searched last night, however, and no trace of the missing gentleman has been found.

Has He Been Murdered?

The relatives of Simmons are afraid to tell what they fear. They do not believe he has left the city and are afraid he has been robbed for his money, or has been foully dealt with in some inculpable manner.

Mr. Simmons lives in Easton, about a mile beyond the exposition grounds, with his son, Rev. H. L. Fulton, who is pastor of the Rock Spring Presbyterian church. He has been there about a year, having come from Cokesbury, S. C., where his wife is now visiting.

Early Wednesday morning he arose and breakfasted with the family as usual. After the morning meal was over he suddenly picked up his hat and said he was coming to town to visit Cones. He told the family not to be surprised if he did not return that night. He took a train for the city, and has not been back since.

When the old gentleman failed to put in an appearance Friday Mr. Fulton became uneasy and thought he would visit Cones himself, in order to ascertain the whereabouts of his father-in-law. When he told the family of his mission he was shocked to find that Mr. Simmons had not been there, and they knew nothing of his whereabouts.

It was then decided to notify the police and a thorough search of the city was instituted for the missing man.

Fears for the Worse.

Mr. Cones, when seen at his residence last night, said: "We don't know what to think about it. Simmons has never done this way before. His actions are rendered doubly mysterious from the fact that he stated he was coming to my house and never came, and was seen on the streets the next morning. We do not know whether he had any money on his person or not, but suppose that he did. It may be possible he has been robbed and afterwards murdered."

"He has very often visited us at home, and, in fact, we are about the only friends he has in the city. I do not think he has left town, for he certainly would have notified either Mr. Fulton or myself. He never went to any of the hotels in the city, and, moreover, he has a long gray beard, 125 pounds and has a long gray beard. It may be possible that he is in the city and that nothing has befallen him, but his disappearance is decidedly mysterious."

BETWEEN CHINA AND JAPAN.

Gen. Foster Tells of the Treaty Which Was Recently Negotiated.

General Foster, who accompanied Li Hung Chang on his mission to negotiate peace with Japan, in the capacity of confidential adviser to the emperor of China, contributes a characteristic sketch of the Chinese viceroy to the August Century.

Concerning the treaty of Shimonoseki, Mr. Foster says:

While he thus bore the most important trust ever committed to him by the emperor, it was by no means a task to his liking. He was by nature high and spirited, and his military and political success had made him haughty and imperious.

He was proud of his country, of its history, and of its institutions. He took of the national feeling of contempt for the Japanese, and he felt keenly the humiliation which the war had inflicted upon his people. He conceived the mission to which he had been assigned would make him unpopular, and expose him to fresh indignities from his partisan enemies.

He took his life on Japanese soil, and he so expressed himself to the incredulous foreign diplomats at Peking; but he dared not shrink from the duty which his sovereign had imposed upon him.

Seidom has a public man, under such trying circumstances, borne himself with such true heroism and patriotic devotion. A high-spirited and proud man, he went to the land of the despised but triumphant enemy to sue for peace; and yet he never failed to maintain his accustomed demeanor or his country's dignity.

And he did so with the Japanese plenipotentiaries who were designated to receive and treat with him at Shimonoseki to state that they were a typical member of the progressive aristocracy, educated in Europe, and trained in modern political science and methods of government, but long in his country's service at home and abroad.

Marquis Ito, the prime minister, was a typical member of the progressive aristocracy, educated in Europe, and trained in modern political science and methods of government, but long in his country's service at home and abroad.

Count Matsui, minister of foreign affairs, who had been long in his country's service at home and abroad, Marquis Ito, ten years before, had been sent by his government to Tien-Tsin to arrange with the Viceroy Li a settlement of Korean affairs; the same subject brought the two nations to Japan, but under changed conditions for the negotiations.

The defeated party always negotiates at a disadvantage, and the viceroy did not fail to appreciate the situation; but the judgment of the imperial advisers is that he came out of it with as much credit as was possible, and it is quite certain that he obtained better terms for his country than any other Chinese official could have secured.

This was due, in part, to the personal consideration shown him by the Japanese negotiators, but mainly to his own diplomatic experience and his knowledge of his own government.

Japan was robbed of a large measure of her triumph by the intervention of the European powers, and it has been stated that the viceroy consented to the treaty to the cession of the Liaoting peninsula only because of his knowledge that these powers would compel his reluctant China. But that is not a fair statement of the facts.
